Carlton-House, Thursday, March 26, 1812.

A CHAPTER of the Most Noble Order of the Garter having been summoned for this day, the Knights Companions, in their mantles and collars, with the Officers of the Order, in their mantles and wearing their chains and badges, at about three o'clock attended His Royal Highness the Prince Regent in his private apartment; and, being there called over by Garter King of Arms, a procession was made to the Chapter-Room in the following order:

Earl of Westmorland.

The Prince Regent and the Knights Companions being seated, the Chancellor signified to the Chapter His Royal Highness's pleasure, in the name and on the behalf of the Sovereign, that two of the stalls, vacant in the Royal Chapel of St. George at Windsor, be filled.

The Knights Companions then proceeded to the election; and the suffrages being collected by the Chancellor and presented to the Prince Regent, His Grace Charles Duke of Richmond, His Majesty's Lieutenant-General and General Governor of that part of the United Kingdom called Ireland, (who had received the honour of Knighthood by letters patent under the Great Seal), was, by the command of the Prince Regent, in the name and on the behalf of the Sovereign, declared duly elected.

The Knights Companions proceeded to a second election, and the suffrages being collected as before, His Grace James Duke of Montrose (late Knight of the Most Ancient Order of the Thistle, the ensigns of which he had, previously to the Chapter, surrendered to the Prince Regent) was declared duly elected. His Grace was thereupon received at the door of the Chapter-Room by the two junior Knights Companions, and conducted between them to the Prince Regent, preceded by Garter (bearing the ensigns of the Order on a crimson velvet cushion) and Deputy Black Rod.

Garter presenting the garter to the Prince Regent, His Royal Highness, assisted by the two senior Knights Companions, buckled it on his Grace's left leg; the Chancellor pronouncing the admonition.

Garter then presented the ribband with the George to the Prince Regent; and the Duke of Montrose kneeling, His Royal Highness, with the assistance of the said two senior Knights' Companions, put the same over His Grace's shoulder; the Chancellor, in the meantime, pronouncing the admonition; and His Grace having kissed His Royal Highness's hand, and saluted severally the Knights present, withdrew.

The Chapter ended, Garter called over the Knights; and a procession was made back to His Royal Highness's apartment, in the order as before.

Admiralty-Office, March 28, 1812.

Extract of a Letter from Vice-Admiral Sir Edward Pellew, Bart. Commander in Chief of His Majesty's Ships and Vessels in the Mediterranean, to John Wilson Croker, Esq; dated on board His Majesty's Ship Caledonia, at Port Mahon, the 8th of February 1812.

I HAVE the honour to transmit to you herewith, to be laid before my Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty, copies of two letters from Captain Codrington, of the Blake, dated on board that ship off Mataro, the 26th of January and 2d of February last, which will acquaint their Lordships of the situation of affairs in that principality, according to the latest information.

Throughout the whole of the contest the zeal and judgement with which the aid of His Majesty's naval force has been applied to the patriot cause, is deserving their Lordships' approbation. The officers and men have not only sought every opportunity to distinguish themselves, but have submitted with the greatest cheerfulness to fatigue and privation, shewing the greatest humanity towards the suffering inhabitants.

SIR, Blake, off Villa Nueva, Jan. 26, 1812.

AN easterly gale of wind prevented our gaining any communication with the coast until the 11th, when I joined the Invincible in Salon Bay: shortly afterwards Captain Adam came on board with General Lacy from Reus, and acquainted me with a meditated attack upon Tarragona, by the division of the Baron d'Eroles, previously to their intended march into Arragon, as a diversion in favour of Valencia.

On the morning of the 19th I went to Reus, by desire of General Lacy, to be present at the final arrangement for the attack upon Tarragona that night: I found the commanding officers belonging to the different corps assembled; and the order of attack was scarcely made known to them, before an aid-du-camp of the Baron d'Eroles announced the actual arrival of the French at Cambrills from Fortosa, (having left Valencia after its surrender,) amounting, according to a letter previously received, to about three thousand men, "Alas armas," cried the Baron d'Eroles, with an animation which seemed to have a suitable effect on all the officers present; and I do not believe more than an half hour had elapsed, before the whole of the Division, consisting of between five and six thousand men, were on the ground, and ready to march. As I had ordered a boat to Salon, with twenty barrels of powder for the army, and as I was anxious to render what assistance might be in my power, I made an attempt to regain my ship, accompanied by an orderly dragoon; but, after proceeding about three miles, we were chased back by a party of French cavalry, which we met with at the crossing of the road.

Upon my return I found the troops advancing on the road to Tarragona, in order to cut the enemy's line of march, the Baron d'Eroles putting himself at the head of about seventy cuirassiers, to reconnoitre their strength and position, while General Lacy directed the movements of the respective corps, in readiness for the intended attack. We had scarcely reached the road from Cambrills to Tarragona, when the Baron brought in prisoners two French cuirassiers, who stated that their General (Lafond) had reached the latter place in safety, accompanied by some dragoons, leaving the infantry, amounting to about eight hundred, just by in Villa Suca. General Lacy ordered the Regiment of Buca to attack them immediately, and directed other corps to surround the town, and prevent their escape. The enemy being advantageously posted behind the walls of the village, and that single regiment being much inferior to them in numbers, after a considerable loss in killed and wounded, including amongst the latter, and very severely, their gallant Colonel, Reding, they were obliged to retire; but the regiment intended for their support coming up, forced the French, who had advanced in a compact body, to retire in their turn, and being attacked in their rear by the Baron, they could never effectually rally, notwithstanding the effort they made, accompanied by a general cheer; despair was now visible in their conduct; and one or two discharges from a field-piece, which just then reached the ground, occasioned the surrender of all who remained alive, amounting to above six hundred;—I judge the number of the enemy, dead and dying, which I saw in the field, to amount to two hundred, that of the Spaniards bearing no proportion whatever. It seems, that having information from some spy of our landing, at the time one party of the dragoons chased me, another proceeded to Salon, where they made prisoners of Captains Pringle and Flin, who were walking near the beach, and of Lieutenant Cattle, belonging to this ship, who was waiting on shore with the powder, the boats and boats' crews having effected their escape. These officers, who were guarded close in the rear of the French during the whole of the battle, after being plundered of even part of their clothes, bear witness to their extreme pusillanimity on the approach of disaster, and to their severe loss both in the field and in the houses, in which they sought refuge, owing to the superior dexterity of the Spanish fire. I have given you this little affair in detail, because it evinces considerable improvement in the discipline and organization of the Catalan army; and I can vouch for the cheerfulness with which they proceeded to the attack, under belief of the enemy's force being much nearer their equivalent in numbers. The arrangements made by General Lacy appeared to me well calculated to keep up the mutual support requisite on such an occasion; and the whole conduct of the Baron d'Eroles particularly animating and exemplary; nor shall I readily forget the delight he expressed upon liberating my brother officers from the grasp of our mutual enemy.

Notwithstanding the fatigue of the troops, the General still expressed his intention of attacking Tarragona on that night, and we were therefore escorted to our ships about five o'clock, and weighed immediately. I stationed the Sparrowhawk off the Mole to keep up the communication with the army on that side, and the Merope to the eastward, for the same purpose, whilst the Blake was to occupy the attention of the enemy opposite the Melagro. We had scarcely reached the town, and opened our fire, when the wind increased to a gale at N. W., and prevented all communication by boats with the shore. We persevered, however, under a press of sail, standing off and on, so as to keep up the bombardment until daylight; but the assault was not made, nor could we see any of the Spanish troops in the neighbourhood in the morning. Anxious to afford every encouragement in an enterprize which, besides being of material service to the general cause, would, if successful, have produced me, individually, such particular satisfaction, we continued to work up under as much sail as we could carry the next day, in order to communicate, if possible, with the army, until at length, by the mainsail blowing entirely out of the bolt-rope, other sails splitting, and the barge sinking before we could get the caronade and ammunition out of her, I was driven to the necessity of anchoring for shelter just without range of shot to the eastward of the town. I am still uninformed of the particular cause which prevented the attack being made, either on the 19th or the following night, having had no direct communication with any of the chiefs, but by short requests for assistance, circuitously conveyed, in consequence of the arrival of various divisions of the enemy in those parts, amounting to seven thousand men.

A few lines from General Lacy, which I received on the 23d, induced me to push for Mataro, which I had nearly reached on the 24th, when a very severe gale from the N. E. necessarily reduced me to storm staysails; and whilst persevering off Barcelona, in an endeavour to hold our own, by keeping the ship's head to the eastward, she was struck by a sea, which has started all the timbers and rail of the head, ledges and earlings, bent the iron rail close into the bowsprit, drew the chock in the stern which receives the bolt for the bumpkin shroud, carried away the round-house and head door, and filled the main deck with water, so that the officers were up to their knees in the ward room, although both our spars and ropes stood this severe trial without injury. I bore up for shelter at Villa Nueva, where we were about to anchor at four P. M. on the 25th, in company with the Sparrowhawk and Merope, which I had left to assist the Baron d'Éroles, when the latter, which had just weighed, made the signal for the enemy upon the road to the westward, and shortly afterwards opened her fire on them. The gale being over, and the wind light, we made all sail, and soon commenced firing also. We observed three waggons disabled and abandoned, and considerable discomfiture amongst the troops, notwithstanding the difficulty we were under from a heavy swell setting directly on shore. Arriving opposite Yeardrell we perceived another party coming from the westward, with cavalry, artillery, &c. amounting to some thousand men, which directed their course in land upon our approach. We were however enabled, by giving the guns the greatest elevation, to discharge two or three broadsides before dark, which, I trust, did them material damage. Since this they have never appeared upon any part of that coast; and I know nothing more of the movements of either army than from the reports of desperate battles having taken place, the result of which is so variously stated, that it is impossible to venture an opinion without more authentic intelligence.

I have the honour to be, &c.

SIR, Blake, off Mataro, Feb. 2, 1812.

PASSING Barcelona on the night of the 26th, Captain Guion brought me communications from Captain Tower, respecting the services of the Curaçoa, Rainbow, and Papillon, in harassing a division of the enemy which was marching along the coast from the eastward, and in finally obliging them to retire, and proceed towards Barcelona by a more circuitous route. And I beg to assure you, that their unremitting exertions on all occasions, in aiding our ally on the one part, and checking the progress of the enemy on the other, fully entitle them to your approbation.

On the 29th, whilst watering at Arens, I received information that the whole French force, which had lately traversed this principality, amounting to seven thousand men, (four thousand of which were collected from the Ampurdam, and the other three thousand from the garrison of Barcelona,) were about to make a movement along the coast, I therefore directed Captain Tower, instead of returning immediately to the Medas, which he had lately supplied with provisions and water, and which could not well be in any other danger whilst the whole of the army was in this quarter, to proceed with the Merope to Mataro, and concert with the governor, Colonel O'Ryan, the most adviseable means for its defence. On the morning of the 30th, the Curaçoa making the signal that the enemy were advancing, the Rainbow opened her fire upon them near Vilasar, as did the Curaçoa and Merope upon their approach to Mataro. I weighed immediately, and worked up to that place, accompanied by the Papillon, which just then joined me, having been driven, in company with the Triton transport, off the coast in the late gale.

The French appearing determined to occupy the town, and the inhabitants having had notice of their approach on the preceding evening, and consequently sufficient time to remove their most valuable effects, I felt myself called upon to comply with the desire of the Captain-General, repeated by Colonel O'Ryan, and opened the fire of the squadron upon such parts of the town as appeared to be most occupied by the enemy, and which was suffering by indiscriminate plunder. The tops of the mountains were covered as usual by the irregular Spanish forces acting in Guerilla; and I was in hopes that our united efforts had inclined the enemy to quit the place. They returned, however, at night, and have continued to occupy the town partially ever since, as I judge by their movements, giving each part of the army an opportunity to plunder in its turn. It being impossible to continue the great expence of ammunition, by persevering according to the tenor of Colonel O'Ryan's letter, our fire has only been repeated at intervals, so as to keep the enemy in constant trouble and alarm.

We have reports from Arens of their having lost six hundred men; and the evident effects of our shot upon the houses in the parts to which they have been directed, induces me to give credit to that assertion.

I sent the Curaçoa and Papillon to Arens, in consequence of a report that another French Division was about to enter that town, intending the former should return to the Medas the moment her services could be dispensed with, and I have sent Captain Tower eleven thousand five hundred cartridges, to supply the demands lately made on me by the Patriots, and have directed him to furnish them with such proportion of biscuit as they have required, to enable them to maintain the position they occupy upon the mountains at the back of this town. Yesterday evening the Curaçoa telegraphed "the enemy entering Catilla, St. Paul, and Canet;" but want of wind has prevented that ship and the Papillon hitherto from attacking them, except by their boats.

This narrative added to my preceding letter will afford you the best means I can procure to enable you to judge of the critical state of affairs in this principality.

It appears to me, however, that the Spanish army has increased its exertions in proportion to the difficulties it has had to contend against; and I therefore supplicate that you will be pleased to send me all the means you can spare for clearing the coast of the enemy, and furnishing it with such supplies as may be necessary for keeping up the energy and resolution by which it is at present characterized. General Sarsfield I am told was actually taken prisoner, a few days ago, but was rescued by a Swiss grenadier of the regiment of Bosa, who killed the Frenchman that had got possession of him, and recovered even the sash, which he had just stripped from him; and amongst the losses which they have suffered in the late battles, I am sorry to find the names of some of those rising young men, most distinguished for their gallantry; besides Colonel Reding severely wounded on the 19th, Colonels Villamil, and De Creuff, also of the division of Eroles, were wounded in the hard fought battle of the 24th, in which the French are said to have left six hundred dead on the field; and Colonel Jalon, who has so often distinguished himself with the Cuirassiers, and was left at Mataro to recover from an accidental wound he received at Belpuig, was killed at the head of a Guerilla party on the 31st.

I have now to inform you that the enemy broke up from Mataro this morning before day light, and seeing this ship weigh for the purpose of watching their movements, they took a line through the vineyards, out of gun-shot, which made their march so very tedious and fatiguing, that they did not reach Arens de Mar, until three o'clock, and after being somewhat harrassed upon their approach to that place by the Spanish irregular troops upon the mountains. Seeing them halt upon the hills, I anchored here, and jointly with the Curaçoa, Papillon, and boats, threw a few shot over this town to deter them from entering it. But as we observed a few of them approach the place just before dark, I have ordered the boats to scour the street which runs down to the sea, to check their plundering the houses, during the night, as much as possible.

I have the honour to be, &c.

Copy of a Letter from Captain Rowley of His Majesty's Ship the Eagle, addressed to Vice-Admiral Sir Edward Pellew, Bart. and transmitted by the Admiral to John Wilson Croker, Esq.

SIR, The Eagle, off Fano, Dec. 18, 1811.

I HAVE the honour herewith to transmit you a duplicate of a letter I this day forwarded to Rear-Admiral Fremantle at Palermo, for your information, with copies of its inclosures from Captain Maxwell of the Alceste, on the capture of the Pomone French frigate, and the Persanne store-ship by the squadron under his orders.

I have the honour to be, &c.

C. ROWLEY, Captain.

To Vice-Admiral Sir Edward Pellew, Bart. Commander in Chief, &c. &c. &c. off Toulon.

SIR, The Eagle, off Fano, Dec. 18, 1811.

I HAVE the honour of transmitting you for the information of the Commander in Chief, the inclosures from Captain Maxwell, stating his having (in company with His Majesty's ships Active and Unité) captured the French frigate Pomone, and Persanne store-ship, which sailed the 16th ult. from Corfu with the Pauline; the latter effected her escape and reached Ancona, as I am informed, very much disabled.

The high state of discipline of His Majesty's three frigates, and the well known characters of their gallant captains, officers, and crews, leave not a doubt in my mind that the Pauline would have shared the fate of the others, had not the Alceste lost her maintop mast at the beginning of the action, and I cannot but admire the delicacy of Captain Maxwell in not claiming any credit for himself and those with him from His Majesty's ships having one fourth of their crews on shore at Lissa for the defence of that island.

It is with infinite sorrow I read in Captain Maxwell's letter the loss the country will sustain in the temporary secession of Captain Gordon from active service, through the wound he received, and whose zeal, activity, and abilities, have been so eminently conspicuous, particularly in these seas.

I have the honour to be, &c.

(Signed) C. ROWLEY, Captain.

Rear-Admiral Fremantle, Palermo.

His Majesty's Ship Alceste, off Lissa, December 1, 1811.

SIR,

HIS Majesty's ships under my orders having been drawn from their anchorage before Lugina, by strong gales, had taken shelter in Lissa; when the telegraph on Whitby Hill, signalized three suspicious sail south; Alceste, Active, and Unité were warped out of Port St. George the moment a strong E. N. E.

wind would permit; and on the evening of the 28th ultimo, off the south end of Lissa, I met with Lieutenant M'Dougall, of His Majesty's ship Unité, who, with a judgment and zeal which does him infinite credit, had put back, when on his voyage to Malta in a neutral, to acquaint me he had seen three French frigates, forty miles to the southward: every sail was carried on in chase, and at nine in the morning of the 29th the enemy were seen off the island of Augusta: he formed in line upon the larboard tack, and stood towards us for a short time; but finding His Majesty's ships bearing upon him under all sail in close line abreast, he bore up to the N. W. and set steering sails. At eleven the rear ship separated and stood to the N. E.; I immediately detached the Unité after her, (and Captain Chamberlayne's report to me of the result I have the honour to enclose). At twenty minutes after one P. M. the Alceste commenced action with the other two, by engaging the rear in passing to get at the Commodore, but an unlucky shot soon afterwards bringing down our maintop-mast, we unavoidably dropped a little astern: cheers of 'vive l'Empereur' resounded from both ships, they thought the day their own, not aware of what a second I had in my gallant friend Captain Gordon, who pushed the Active up under every sail, and brought the sternmost to action, within pistol-shot; the headmost then shortened sail, tacked and stood for the Alceste, (which though disabled in her masts, I trust he experienced was by no means so at her guns), and after a warm conflict of two hours and twenty minutes, it ended by the French Commodore making sail to the westward; which from my crippled state I was unable to prevent, and the other surrendering, after being totally dismasted and five feet water in her hold; she proved to be the Pomone, of forty-four guns and three hundred and twenty-two men, commanded by Captain Rosamel, who fought his ship with a skill and bravery, that has obtained for him the respect and esteem of his opponents; the other was the Pauline, of similar force, commanded by Monsiur Montford, Capitaine du Vaisseau, with a broad pendant; they were from Corsu going to join the squadron at Trieste. The Alceste had twenty killed and wounded, Active thirty-two, and Pomone fifty; and it is with poignant regret I inform you, that Captain Gordon has lost a leg; but thank God he is doing well; his merits as an officer I need not dwell upon, they are known to his country; and he lives in the hearts of all who have the happiness to know him. His first Lieutenant, Dashwood, lost his arm soon after he was wounded, and the ship was fought by Lieutenant Haye in a manner that reflects the highest honour upon him; his services before had frequently merited and obtained the high approbation and strong recommendation of his Captain, who also speaks in the warmest praise of Acting Lieutenant Moriarty, Mr. Lothian, Master, Lieutenant Meers, Royal Marines, and every officer, seaman, and marine under his command.

And though our success was not so complete as I trust it would have been, could the Alceste have taken up her intended position alongside Pauline, instead of that ship, from the fall of our topmast, being enabled to manœuvre and choose her distance, I feel it my duty to state, that every officer and man here behaved most gallantly: I was most ably assisted on the quarter-deck by my First Lieutenant A. Wilson, and Mr. H. Moore, Master; and the main-deck guns were admirably directed by Lieutenant James Montague and Mr. James Adair, acting in the place of Lieutenant Hickman, at Lissa with the gun-boats. In justice to two very deserving officers (Lieutenant Miller, Royal Marines, Active, and Lieutenant Lloyd, Royal Marines, Alceste), it is necessary to mention they were ashore with most of their respective parties at Camesa Castle and Hoste's Islands for the defence of Lissa, hourly threatened with an attack from the enemy, assembled in great force at Scisina.

The Kingsfisher hove in sight and joined soon after the action, and Captain Tritton rendered essential service by taking the prize in tow.

Captain Bligh, of the Acorn, to whom I have entrusted the defence of Lissa in our absence, has had an arduous duty to perform; but no difficulties arise, when all are actuated by zeal for His Majesty's service; and the little squadron you have done me the honour to entrust me with, possess it in an eminent degree.

Unité has just joined, after seeing the Persanne into Lissa; and Captain Chamberlayne, with his usual alacrity, has repaired his damages, and made the signal of being fit for service; and, I am happy to say, this ship will in a few hours more be perfectly so also.

I intend sending the Active with prizes and prisoners to Malta as soon as possible, which, from the state of her wounded officers and men, I am sure will meet your approbation. Enclosed are lists of the killed and wounded, and

I have the honour to be, &c.

(Signed) MURRAY MAXWELL.

To Captain Rowley, His Majesty's ship Eagle, and Senior Officer of Adriatic Squadron.

His Majesty's Ship Unité, Lissa N. E. Five Leagues, Friday, Nov. 29, 1811.

SIR, I AM to acquaint you, that, in obedience to your signal to chase this morning, I was enabled, by the superior sailing of His Majesty's ship under my command, to so far close immediately in the wake of the enemy's frigate at noon, as to exchange bow and stern-chasers, but the very variable state of the weather from that time, the wind veering from the south to the east, and our opponent keeping us directly astern, prevented my getting closer until near four o'clock, when part of our broadside being fired at him, he returned his, and struck his colours. You will judge my astonishment at her proving to be La Persanne, of eight hundred and sixty tons, twenty-nine nine-pounders, and a complement of one hundred and twenty-five men and sixty-five troops, having on board one hundred and twenty iron, and a few brass ordnance: she was commanded by Mons. Joseph Endie Satic, Capitaine de Frigate, whose masterly manœuvres and persevering resistance for near four hours, reflect great credit on him. Our masts, yards, sails, and rigging bear ample testimony to his galling fire.

We have only one man wounded; the enemy two killed and four wounded. The coolness and steady attention to my orders on the part of my First

Lieutenant, Mr. J. W. Crabb, Lieutenant M'Dougall, Lieutenant W. Hotham, Mr. Gibson, lately promoted for his gallantry on board the Active, and the whole of the other officers and ship's company, could only be equalled by their extreme disappointment at discovering, at the enemy's surrender, we had been opposed to a vessel of inferior force. I inclose a list of our defects, and the name of the wounded man—(Thomas Tate, ordinary, severely.)
I remain, &c.

(Signed) E. H. CHAMBERLAYNE, Capt.
M. Maxwell, Esq, Captain of His Majesty's
Ship Alceste, and Senior Officer, &c.

List of the Enemy's Squadron engaged by His Majesty's Ships Alceste, Active, and Unité, off Lissa, on the 29th November 1811.

Admiralty-Office, March 28, 1812.

Copy of a Letter from the Honourable Captain Waldgrave, of His Majesty's Ship the Volontaire, addressed to Captain Adams, of the Invincible, and transmitted by Vice-Admiral Sir Edward Pelleu to John Wilson Croker, Esq.

His Majesty's Ship Volontaire, off Palamos, SIR, 26th December 1811.

WHILE off the Medas this morning a boat informed me that an enemy's schooner had arrived at this port the night before last. I immediately stood in and anchored off the Mole, where she was lying. Lieutenant Shaw with Mr. Banantyne, Master's-mate, in the boats, went to bring her out, while the marines under Lieutenants Burton and Campbell of that corps, admirably maintained a covering position on the Mole Head, against a party of French troops, who disputed the post with them. As large reinforcements were pouring in from the adjacent garrisons, and the vessel was grounded, Lieutenant Shaw set fire to her, but floating afterwards, he towed her out to us, when the fire was extinguished, but not before it had done great damage.

She proves the Decidé, a new privateer, mounting two long six-pounders, pierced for six, carrying a cargo of provisions from Cette to Barcelona.

This service, so laudably performed by all employed, has fortunately been attended with no other accident than one marine wounded.

I have the honour to be, &c.

NEW ESTABLISHMENT OF PAY AND HALF-PAY FOR NAVY CHAPLAINS.

Admiralty-Office, March 9, 1812.

THE Lords Commissioners for executing the Office of Lord High Admiral of the United Kingdoms of Great Britain and Ireland, do hereby give notice, that His Royal Highness the Prince Regent has been graciously pleased, by His Order in Council of the 4th instant, in the name and on the behalf of His Majesty, to direct, that the following regulations, in respect to the half-pay or pension to be allowed to Chaplains of His Majesty's Fleet, after long and meritorious service, as well as the pay and allowances during the period of such servitude, shall be established in future, viz.

First.—“That every ship in His Majesty's Navy, from a first to a fifth rate inclusive, shall be allowed a Chaplain on her establishment.”

Secondly.—“That every Chaplain after eight years of actual sea service, (or if in a guard-ship, ten years,) during which period he shall not have been absent from his duty six weeks at any one time, except by special leave from the Board of Admiralty, and who shall produce certificates of good conduct and moral behaviour from the Captains he may have served under, shall be entitled to a pension in the nature of half-pay; but no Chaplain to be entitled to half-pay or pension if he shall accept any preferment with cure of souls during the term of his required service at sea.”

Thirdly.—“That the amount of this pension or half-pay to each Chaplain shall be five shillings per day.”

Fourthly.—“That if in the event of a peace, or from other circumstances not depending on himself, a Chaplain shall not have been able to complete the full servitude of eight years, a pension may be conferred by the Board of Admiralty, according to a scale to be determined on, proportionate to the term of service; in no case, however, to be granted for less than three years service at sea.”

Fifthly.—“That on the expiration of the period of eight (or ten) years, as the case may be, every Chaplain shall give notice in writing, whether it is his intention to continue to serve or not; in the first case, every year's additional service shall entitle him, when placed on the pension list, to receive at the rate of sixpence a day in addition to the pension which his eight (or ten) years servitude may have entitiled him to, until the aggregate rate amounts to ten shillings a day, being the greatest pension which any length of service can confer; in the second case, where no further service is intended, the pension shall remain at five shillings a day as above-mentioned.”

Sixthly.—“That length of service and meritorious conduct shall render Chaplains eligible to all the Chaplaincies of all Naval establishments whatever, the disposal of which shall, or may be, left to the consideration of the Board of Admiralty; and that no other Clergyman shall be eligible to any of those pieces of preferment, than a Navy Chaplain; and that the presentation to any of those pieces of preferment, whose emoluments may amount to four hundred pounds per annum, shall cause the half-pay of the respective Chaplains to cease, as is provided by law in the case of the divided Living of Simonbourn.”

Seventhly.—“That the pay of a Chaplain, while in actual service, shall be according to the following rate, viz.

“One hundred and fifty pounds per annum, and

“ the established compensation of 111. 8s. a year for a servant, in each rate, and to have a cabin allotted for him, in the ward-room, or gun-room, where he is to mess with the Lieutenants and to be rated for victuals: and when the Chaplain shall be willing to act as Schoolmaster, he shall be entitled to the bounty of twenty pounds a-year, granted by her late Majesty Queen Anne, by her Order in Council, of the 21st April 1702, provided he shall pass an examination before the Lieutenant-Governor, Professor, and Preceptor of the Royal Naval College at Portsmouth, instead of at the Trinity House, as required by the above-mentioned Order in Council; and he shall be further entitled to five pounds per annum, to be paid to him by every young Midshipman and Volunteer of the first class, as a remuneration for his education; the same to be stopped out of the said young Gentlemen's pay.”

Eighthly.—“ That a Chaplain-General shall be appointed, with such emoluments as may be deemed proper by the Board of Admiralty, to whom all applications for appointments shall be made, or will be referred, and all regulations entrusted, relating to the establishment of Chaplains for the Royal Navy, in the same manner as is practised with regard to Army Chaplains.”

Ninthly.—“ That no warrant will be granted by the Board of Admiralty, to any candidate for an appointment, unless recommended by the Archbishops of Canterbury and York, and the Bishop of London, through the Chaplain-General, as in every way properly qualified.”

Tenthly.—“ That Chaplains now serving in the Navy, who may upon due examination be deemed proper to be continued, shall be allowed the time they may have served, as part (not exceeding one half) of that required to entitle them to the pension of half-pay.”

By command of their Lordships,
J. W. CROKER.
