THIS day the Right Honourable the Lord Mayor, the Aldermen, Recorder, Sheriffs, Common Council, and Officers of the Corporation of London, waited upon His Most Christian Majesty the King of France, at Grillon's Hotel, in Albemarle-Street, with the following Address, which was read by John Silvester, Esq. the Recorder.

To His Most Christian Majesty Louis the Eighteenth, KING of FRANCE and NAVARRE.

The Address of Congratulation of the Lord Mayor, Aldermen, and Commons of the City of London, in Common Council assembled.

May it please your Most Christian Majesty,

WE, the Lord Mayor, Aldermen, and Commons of the City of London, in Common Council assembled, beg leave to approach your Majesty with the tender of our sincere congratulation upon the great and glorious events which, under the guidance of a gracious Providence, have led to the deliverance of your people from a tyranny, as oppressive as any that has ever enslaved and afflicted mankind.

It is matter of cordial gratification to the people of this country, that, during the wide and desolating ravages of war, a safe asylum has been found in these happy realms for the Royal Family of France.

The day is now arrived, when your Majesty is called upon to convince your people and the world, that the Sovereign of France has incalculable blessings to dispense to his gallant and faithful subjects, who are eager to behold their beloved Monarch, as ample and glorious amends for the calamities they have so long endured.

That your Majesty may long sway the recovered sceptre of your illustrious ancestors, that you may prove a blessing to your people, and that the two countries of Great Britain and France may be so indissolubly allied by the relations of amity and concord, as to ensure and perpetuate to both, and to Europe at large, uninterrupted peace and repose, is our sincere and fervent prayer.

Signed, by order of Court,

Henry Woodthorpe.

To which Address His Most Christian Majesty was pleased to return the following answer :

“ My Lord and Gentlemen,

“ I thank you with all My heart for your obliging address and kind wishes.

“ It is as gratifying to My pride as affecting to My heart, to receive the felicitations of the city of London on so happy an event.

“ Neither Myself or My Family, will ever forget the asylum afforded to us, nor the stand which has been made against tyranny by England, whose powerful aid has enabled My people to speak freely their sentiments of loyalty.

“For My own part I shall always be anxious to promote between the two kingdoms, a friendship which alone can insure their mutual felicity, and the repose of the world.”

THE following Addresses have been presented to His Royal Highness the Prince Regent; which Addresses His Royal Highness was pleased to receive very graciously:

To His Royal Highness George Prince of Wales, REGENT of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland.

The humble Address of the Ministers and Elders of the Provincial Synod of Aberdeen.

May it please your Royal Highness,

WE, His Majesty's loyal and dutiful subjects, the Ministers and Elders of the Provincial Synod of Aberdeen, in Synod assembled, having, during our present meeting, received intelligence of the glorious events which have lately taken place in France, beg leave to approach the throne of our revered Sovereign, with our heartfelt congratulations: we rejoice in the prospect which is now opened of the speedy re-establishment, on a sure and permanent foundation, of the liberty and independence of the various nations of Europe, and of that amicable commercial intercourse which was wont to subsist among them. As Britons, we glory in the magnanimous and steady resistance which this free and generous nation has made to the subjecting of the whole civilized world, to the domination of one ambitious and tyrannical despot; and, in humble thankfulness, we lift up our souls to the God of nations, by whose mighty interposition that resistance has been crowned with success. As the Ministers of Christ, we exult in the hope, that the glorious and happy events, on which we congratulate your Royal Highness and our country, will ultimately lead to the extension of pure religion, and of the liberties of mankind, both sacred and civil.

That the throne of these Kingdoms may ever remain unshaken, and that the sceptre may descend in your august family, to the latest generations, is the prayer of, may it please your royal Highness, His Majesty's dutiful subjects, the Ministers and Elders of the Provincial Synod of Aberdeen.

Signed in our name, presence, and by our appointment, at Aberdeen, this 14th day of April 1814. John Bower, Moderator.

[Transmitted by the Reverend John Bower, Moderator, and presented by Lord Viscount Sidmouth.]

To His Royal Highness George Prince of Wales, REGENT of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland.

WE, His Majesty's most dutiful and loyal subjects, the Bailiff, Burgesses, and Commonalty, and other Inhabitants of the Borough of Daventre, humbly offer to your Royal Highness our sincere and heartfelt congratulations upon the late decisive and glorious successes, with which the arms of His Majesty and His illustrious Allies, in repressing an overgrown, ambitious, and inordinate power, have so happily been crowned.

When we call to mind, as British subjects, that these successes are, under Divine Providence, principally to be attributed to the vigour, firmness, and constancy of these Counsels, entered into for the salvation of Europe by the wisdom of our beloved Sovereign, and continued by the generous and enlightened mind of your Royal Highness; and that it is through the same vigour, firmness, and constancy we have to boast that, while every country around us has been pierced by the sword of tumult, war, and conquest, our own has stood safe, impregnable, and great, preserved for a destiny, which will to all futurity excite the admiration of the world; we cannot sufficiently render thanks to God for having placed us under the Government of a House, ever desirous as well to promote the general welfare of mankind, as to ensure the safety, and exalt the character of the people over whom it was appointed to rule.

When we reflect, as men, that to punish usurpation, tyranny, and injustice, every independent Sovereign and nation of Europe arose, as one man, and ceased not their persevering and courageous endeavours, until they had effected the noble object of their wishes; and when we consider that, as in the pursuit of that object valour and zeal were their distinguishing characteristics, so also in the attainment of it forbearance and clemency were equally conspicuous, we cannot be too proud of being born in an age, which will always be celebrated for every quality and virtue, that mark the great and good.

We have cheerfully submitted to those privations, necessarily attendant upon the late extended warfare, well assured that every exertion of His Majesty, and of your Royal Highness, would be directed to the establishing a peace, which British could honourably accept, and under which Europe could securely repose.

Your illustrious ancestors were called to the throne of this realm for the support of the Protestant religion, and most active and unremitting were their labours in maintaining its interests; not less eminent and praiseworthy has been your Royal Highness's care in upholding the same: in these events, viewing the reward of those labours, and of that care, we confidently trust that your Royal Highness will still continue that activity and vigilance, imitating the conscientious inflexibility of your royal father.

With deep and unaffected sorrow we lament, that the unfortunate indisposition of His Majesty prevents his partaking in the joy of his subjects, and of the whole world.

John Wildegose, Bailiff.

Copy of a Letter from Vice-Admiral Sir Edward Pellew, Bart. to John Wilson Croker, Esq. dated on board His Majesty's Ship Caledonia, off Minorca, March 28, 1814.

SIR, His Majesty's Ship Caledonia, off Minorca, March 28, 1814.

I ENCLOSE, for the information of their Lordships, copies of letters just put into my hands by Rear-Admiral Fremantle on his way to England. I learn with the sincerest regret the death of Captain Taylor, of the Apollo, whose exemplary conduct and amiable character, raised to him universal respect. The last service he performed in co-operating in the capture of Paxò, was executed with his usual judgment. Captain Hoste's letter, respecting the taking of Ragusa, will shew their Lordships the success of that distinguished officer's constant zeal and activity.

No. 16888.

I have the honour to be, &c.

EDWARD PELLEW.

SIR, His Majesty's Ship Bacchante, before Ragusa, January 29, 1814.

MY letter of the 6th instant will have acquainted you of the capture of Cattaro, and of my intention, to attack this place as soon as the artillery and stores, necessary for the siege, were embarked from that fortress; on my arrival here on the 19th, I found the place invested by the Austrian General Milutinovitch, with two Croat battalions, but not a single piece of artillery had arrived. Four mortars and two guns were immediately landed from the Bacchante and opened on the works of the town and Fort Lorenzo the morning of the 22d: the enemy returned a heavy fire from all his batteries. The approach to Ragusa is extremely difficult, by the commanding situation of Fort Imperial and the island of Croma; and it became an object of importance to secure this latter port before we could advance our batteries; two eighteen-pounders were therefore landed, and by the great exertions of the officers and seamen under Lieutenant Milbourne, third of this ship, one gun was brought round the mountains at the back of Ragusa, a distance full six miles, and placed immediately opposite the island, which it completely commanded.

The French General, however, on the morning of the 27th, sent out a truce to request our batteries would cease, and a capitulation was commenced and signed on the 28th for the surrender of the town and its dependencies. The British and Austrian troops took possession the same day, one hundred and twenty pieces of cannon were mounted on the works of the town and Fort Lorenzo, twenty-one in Fort Imperial, and eleven in the island of Croma, with a garrison of five hundred men, and nearly six weeks provisions. The garrison are prisoners of war, not to serve against England or her Allies till regularly exchanged. His Majesty's ship Elizabeth arrived here on the evening of the 27th, but Captain Gower very handsomely declined interfering in the negociation. I am happy to say the best understanding has prevailed between the allied troops, and General Milutinovitch has expressed himself in the handsomest terms for the assistance he has received.

The object for which you sent me here, Sir, is now, I believe, obtained, by the expulsion of the French troops from the provinces of Cattaro and Ragusa, and it only remains for me to mention the meritorious conduct of all the officers and men who have shared the fatigues and privations attending it.

I beg leave also to mention the great assistance I have received from Captain Angelo, of Lieutenant-General Campbell's staff, who accompanied me from Cattaro, both there and at this place. His ready and active services have considerably diminished the difficulties we have met with. The limits of a dispatch will not allow me to enter further into detail, but I can assure you, Sir, that every officer and man under my command, has strictly performed his duty. The loss of the British during the siege, has been one seaman killed, and ten severely wounded.

I have the honour to be, &c.

W. HOSTE, Captain.

Rear Admiral Fremantle, &c. &c. &c.

I beg leave to transmit a statement of the several places taken by the squadron, since I have had the command, in this gulph.

I have the honour to be, &c.

Whereas it hath been humbly represented unto His Royal Highness the Prince Regent, that about twelve o'clock in the night of the 25th of March last, Henry Trigg, of Berden, in the county of Essex, shoemaker, hearing some persons in the shop adjoining to his house, went with his father, Henry Trigg, to the door of the shop, which opened into the street, and they there met two men coming out of the shop, one of whom rushed by them, and escaped. The other, having been knocked down, and secured by the son, was delivered into the hands of his father. Henry Trigg then went in pursuit of the man who had escaped; but, upon hearing a scuffle take place between his father and the man he had left him in charge of, and fearing lest he should break from him, he returned to his father's assistance; and while they were all three struggling upon the ground, the person who had escaped, returned and fired a gun or pistol, but without effect; and in a very short space of time he came up to Henry Trigg, the son, and, with a dreadful imprecation, swore that he would do for him, and immediately fired a second time, and shot Henry Trigg, the son, in the left side of his breast, which occasioned his instant death.

His Royal Highness, for the better apprehending and bringing to justice the persons concerned in the said atrocious murder, is hereby pleased, in the name and on the behalf of His Majesty, to promise His Majesty's most gracious pardon to any one of the offenders (except the person who actually fired at and shot the said Henry Trigg,) who shall discover his, her, or their accomplice or accomplices therein, so that he, she, or they may be apprehended and convicted thereof.

Whitehall, April 12, 1814.

His Royal Highness, for the better apprehending and bringing to justice the persons concerned in the said felony, is hereby pleased, in the name and on the behalf of His Majesty, to promise His Majesty's most gracious pardon to any one of them (except the person or persons who actually broke the said frames) who shall discover his or their accomplice or accomplices therein, so that he, she, or they may be apprehended and convicted thereof.

ALL persons who have any claim or demands on the estate and effects of Mr. Matthias Deane, of London-Road, Southwark, Solicitor, deceased, are requested to meet at the George and Vulture Tavern, Cornhill, on Thursday the 5th day of May next, at Twelve at Noon, for the purpose of adjusting and duly administering his estate.

NOTICE TO DEBTORS AND CREDITORS.

By a trust deed, bearing date the 24th of October 1812, executed by Messrs. Robert Williams and Frederick Hohler, who carried on trade as Merchants and Auctioneers, at Calcutta, for many years last past, under the firm of Williams and Hohler, all their joint and separate property, outstanding debts, demands and claims of every description, due, owing or belonging to them or either of them, was conveyed to George Cruttenden and James Mackillop, of Calcutta aforesaid, Esquires, for the benefit of their Creditors.

From the extensive dealings the said firm of Williams and Hohler had in India and in Europe for many years, the Trustees deem it necessary to give this public notice to the Creditors of the said firm, that they intend to make a final dividend, at their house in Calcutta, under the said trust deed, on the 1st January 1815.

The said Trustees beg leave to request, that the Debtors and Creditors of the said firm of Williams and Hohler, in Europe, will be pleased to pay their respective debts, to verify their demands, and lodge their claims with the following persons, in sufficient time to be received by the said Trustees at Calcutta, to enable them to carry the said trust into execution.

A copy of the trust deed may be seen with the several persons hereinafter named, who are authorized by the said Trustees to adjust accounts with, and receive payment from such persons as are indebted to the said firm of Williams and Hohler.

The said Trustees beg leave to state, that since the said trust deed has been executed, both Mr. Williams and Mr. Hohler, died; the former leaving a widow and seven infant daughters, and the latter leaving a widow and three infant children, without any means of support whatsoever, other than the bounty of the public. From the fair character the deceased bore, the subscriptions in India have been as usual, liberal; but the amount still very inadequate for the purposes required.

The undermentioned gentlemen have kindly offered to receive and remit to India, any contributions the friends of the deceased may be willing to make for the benefit of their families.

In London, Messrs. Palmer, Wilson, and Co. No. 36, Old-Jewry; in Edinburgh, James Gibson, Esq. W. S.; in Ireland, Josiah Dunn, Solicitor at Dublin.
