From Saturday April 9, to Tuesday April 12, 1748.

Hambourg, April 12.

THERE is Advice from Rostock, that the Populace had assembled there in a tumultuous Manner, while the present reigning Duke of Mechlemburgh was in Conference at the Town House with the Members of that Magistracy, insisting that the Prince should receive Satisfaction, and be reinstated in certain Rights and Privileges upon which the Magistrates had taken an Opportunity of encroaching during the late Troubles in that Dutchy; nor was it sufficient that the Duke sent his Chancellor, M. Stein, to assure the People that his Master had no farther Reasons of Complaint, they would have it confirmed to them from the Prince's own Mouth, who, to prevent any ill Consequence from the Continuance of so tumultuous a Proceeding, repeated to them the same Assurances, upon which they began to disperse; however, when the last Letters came away, there yet reigned a good deal of Confusion.

Head Quarters at Hellinrouche, April 15. We continue in much the same Situation. The Enemy have not as yet broke Ground towards the Town, but as 50 Battering Pieces were landed this Day at Liege, it is supposed they will begin to break Ground this Evening. The last Division of his Britannick Majesty's Electoral Troops arrived the 12th.

Custom-House, London, April 5, 1748.

Whereas William Gray and Thomas Kemp, two notorious Smuglers, forcibly made their Escape out of Newgate on Wednesday the 30th of March last, about Eight o'Clock at Night, with the Assistance of some other Persons, by knocking down the Turnkey and one of his Assistants with Pistols and Broomsticks.

William Gray is about Twenty-six Years of Age, a well made Man, Five Feet eight or nine Inches high, of a fair Complexion and fresh Colour, and has lost the Thumb of his Left Hand; when he made his Escape he had on a light Fustian Frock, and a strip'd Lapel Waistcoat.

Thomas Kemp, about the same Age, is a thin made Man, Five Feet eight or nine Inches high, of a fair Complexion, or little Pock-fretten and fresh Colour, Cape Coat and grizzle Peruke.

For the better discovering and bringing to Justice the said Gray and Kemp, the Commissioners of his Majesty's Customs do hereby promise a Reward of One hundred Pounds for the discovering and apprehending either of the said Persons (over and above the Reward of Fifty Pounds offered by the Keeper of Newgate;) to be paid by the Receiver General and Cashire of the Customs, upon their being apprehended and committed to Goals.

By Order of the Commissioners,
William Wood, Secretary.

Victualling Office, April 6, 1748.

The Commissioners for Victualling his Majesty's Navy, hereby give Notice, that there is in the Hands of the Treasurer of the Navy, Money to pay the Interest due the 31st of March 1748, on Victualling Bills register'd between the 1st of January 1746, and 30th of September 1747, that Persons possess'd of such Bills may at any Time carry them to the Treasurer's Office in Broadstreet, and receive the Interest due thereon, and have the same wrote off upon the Bills.
